

Virtual Meeting of the Minds

Foster connection across remote teams.

As organisations increasingly turn to remote work and employees collaborate as dispersed teams, it is even more essential that leaders, managers, team members and individual contributors receive the tools they need to strengthen communication, productivity and engagement. The Virtual Meeting of the Minds offers a blended learning experience that reveals individual and collective strengths, provides practical ways for teams to work together more effectively and supports strong workplace cultures – with or without a traditional office space.

Outcomes

This workshop empowers attendees to:

Enhance their self-awareness with insights into their strengths

Understand how their preferences impact work relationships and styles

Recognise, celebrate and utilise the strengths of others

Enhance communication and collaboration

Improve outcomes using the power of cognitive diversity

Who should attend a Virtual Meeting of the Minds?

To maximise learning, this workshop is ideal for 10 – 30 participants who work remotely or in dispersed teams. The Virtual Meeting of the Minds engages leaders, managers and individual contributors, whether they are part of an intact team or broader employee groups. It is for those who are interested in:

- Developing self-awareness
- Honing leadership and management skills
- Communicating more productively
- Strengthening collaboration and team development
- Learning to problem solve more effectively

What's on the agenda?

The session's blended content is simple to understand, immediately applicable and engaging. Before their session, participants review a brief, dynamic eLearning course to gain a foundational understanding of Emergenetics and access their personal Profile and Narrative Report.

In their live virtual training led by a Certified Emergenetics Facilitator, attendees will:

- Revisit the science and seven Attributes of Emergenetics and practise applying their learning
- Discover new ways to communicate and collaborate more effectively with others
- Learn about the power of cognitive diversity
- Uncover a common language to help unify remote teams and strengthen culture
- Develop individual and team actions to improve performance

Participant Resources

- Digital copies of their Emergenetics Profile, Narrative Report and Tip Sheet
- Access to the Emergenetics+ mobile app
- Digital handouts that provide practical applications of the Emergenetics Attributes in day to day work

Working with a smaller group or team? Try our virtual Team Dynamics for Small Groups workshop.

Drive collaboration and improve communication with this interactive virtual learning.
